DETAILED ACTION

1. In view of the arguments filed on 7/28/08, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. As set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) File a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical

Art Unit: 3714

Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 4, 6, 26, and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Seelig et al. (U.S. 2004/0180716).

Regarding claims 1 and 26, Seelig provides a gaming machine and method that discloses at least one moveable indicator, which is shown in fig. 1a as part number 43, that indicates a prize to a player wherein the indicator is a mechanical component of the gaming machine as shown in fig. 4, wherein the indicator (part 43) is connected to gear part number 152 that is located inside the gaming machine. Seelig further discloses that a moveable indicator actuator and a controller may be in communication with the moveable indicator and may be configured to move the indicator along a predetermined path so that the moveable indicator reveals a game outcome (par. 0030). Seelig further teaches that the indicator may conform to a theme of the game, wherein the example in fig. 5, the indicator is that of a detective that includes a magnifying glass as a pointer portion, wherein the pointer portion, (part 106, fig. 5), may be configured to substantially cover an indicia and then reveal the indicia in the event the player has won a prize (par. 0081). The examiner views this as the indicator being a mechanical component and the pointer portion being a dynamic member that is operable to conceal and reveal a display device wherein the display device is operable to generate a random symbol related to the gaming machine award.

Regarding claims 4 and 29, Seelig provides a gaming machine that includes an indicator that may point to particular indicia, wherein the indicator may be configured to point to indicia that convey an outcome (par. 0091). Seelig further discloses a feature that allows a player to select the position of the indicator in a variety of ways using directional buttons (par. 0128). The examiner views this as allowing the player the opportunity to select one or more hands to reveal a symbol related to a gaming machine award.

Regarding claim 6, wherein the one or more hands support a watch having a display, this is a design choice since placing a watch on one or more hands as claimed does not bring unexpected results to the outcome of the game. Note that, the watch as claimed is considered as a decorative device since it does not bear any function of the game.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2, 3, 5, 27, 28, and 30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. These claims are deemed allowable subject matter as there is no prior art known wherein a gaming machine discloses one or more arms extending from the gaming machine that includes one or hands joined to the said arms, wherein the corresponding hand may open to reveal a prize that may be awarded to a player.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 4, 6, 26, and 29 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
